

Good toys. Real instruments. For kids who don't miss a beat.

The noise of parenting is unavoidable. But how it sounds? That's up to you. No fluff. Just the good stuff.

Let's Play

Perfect Parenting? Cute Concept.

That version lives on Pinterest—or in catalogues that somehow still end up in your mailbox.

Meanwhile in the real world... You just called coffee 'breakfast', everyone's falling apart, and you're wondering how early is too early to leave.

This isn't chaos. It's the cost of showing up. And you do. Every damn day. Sneaky Music sells toys and instruments that meet you where you are—on the floor, in the car, under pressure, over it. They don't ask for a manual or a mood board. Just press play.

So no, we don't promise peaceful moments or perfect outcomes. We promise play. Real, ridiculous, worth-it play.

Perfect parenting? She's not the goal. Keeping it moving is.

We Said Sneaky. And We Mean It.

We don't stock toys to fill the silence. We stock tools to turn it into something better.

A drum isn't just noise - it's agency.

A microphone isn't just fun - it's confidence.

A tambourine in a toddler's hand? That's rhythm, coordination, expression. All wrapped in play.

Music isn't a feature. It's the point.

It teaches, it empowers, and yes - it entertains the hell out of them.

We care about that. Because it works. Because it sticks. Because it gives them more than just something to do. It gives them something they can own.

What the Grown Ups Say

I was travelling Australia and almost home bound, so I was worried if I did an online order, the delivery time would be too long. So the wonderful staff arranged to deliver my order to the local post office where I was able to pick it up!

Shannon, Sleep-deprived Mum

Look forward to receiving the Maraca Set.

Jennifer, Excited Granny

This is for my 6 month old granddaughter's first Easter basket.

She's teething so it will entertain her and soothe her sore gums. I like the wooden carved bunny. I am so tired of plastic.

Patricia, Tired of Plastic Grandma

Love the Wooden Pull-aong Glockenspiel!

Super cute design and fun for the kiddies. Thank you!
